

Mark Venuti has been practicing law for many years, and has represented homeless people and their advocates, Vietnam veterans, demonstrators, and people who need help with basic transactions. He has also been practicing being a son, brother, husband, father, and friend for many years.